The Wrong Side of the Stage.

Only a whisper as the old clown died.

Between his lips, still ripe with langhter, crept;
He meaned not for the fading past, nor sigh d—
No cry was heard—we watched—no tears he wept,
The old sad smile, softer than any song,
Came back for one short minute as the cage
Of life was closing; then he spoke—"They're wrong!
The wrong side of the stage!"

Poer dying clown! were you then wandering Back to your busy scenes of industry! Was it some melody you tried to sing—Some pleasant memory was passing by! Did you desire, half dreamy, to prolong The fincies of a lifetime, and engage Once more in recollection, saying, "Wrong! The wrong side of the stage!"

Or was it—yes, it must have been—old friend,
Mirror of distance you were looking through,
When all desire of life was at an end.
Visions of happiness appeared to you,
And as your tired thoughts were borne away
From merry childhood to completed age
You thought of those you left, and whispered, "Wrong
The wrong side of the stage!"—Ulement Scott.

The word misnomer is defined by Worcester as "a wrong name." It is surprising to notice how many of the objects and events familiar to and be content that the deed was done.

Among the many mistakes prevalent in reus are thus miscalled. Dr. E. Cobham Brewer, in his invaluable "Dictionary of Phrase and gard to the habits of animals and insects is Fable," devotes a considerable space to the consideration of this subject, and he is not the harvest for a Winter's store. This is quite an Irish stew is a dish never seen in Ireland. Inde, a term which is equally incorrect.

Turkey rhubarb neither grows in Turkey nor is it exported from Turkey. It grows in the great mountain chain between Tartary and Siberia, and is a Russian monopoly. Turkish baths are not of Turkish origin, nor are they baths, but hot-air rooms or therme.

In the "Ode to a Mummy" is the query,
"Is Pompey's Pillar really a misnomer?" I will answer that the noted Alexandrian shaft was neither erected by Pompey nor yet to Pompey, but either to Septimus Severus or one of the Caliphs.

The tube rose is no rose, but the tuberous polianth (Polianthus tuberosa.) Again, even the great John Milton was i error when he wrote

Thick as Autumnal leaves that strew the brooks In The trees of Vallambrosa, being pines, do not fall thick in Autumn, and the brooks, consequently, are not strewed with them.

I am now writing with a pen, and yet pen means a feather, from the Latin word peana, which signifies a wing. The expression, "a steel pen," is not by any means a choice one. German silver is not silver at all, nor was he metallic mixture invented by a German, but has been in use in China time out of mind. Japan lacquer centains no lac at all, but :s made from the resin of a kind of nut tree called anacardiaceas.

Brazilian grass does not come from Brazil, or even grow in Brazil, nor is it a grass at all. It consists of strips of a palm leaf (Chamae-rops argentea) and is chiefly imported from Catgut is not the gut of cats, but of sheep.

Scaling wax is not wax at all, nor does it contain a single particle of wax. It is made of shellac, Venice turpentine and cinnabar. The last substance gives it its deep red color, and the turpentine renders the shellac soft and To the lovers of cigarettes I would say that rice paper is not made from rice; but from the pith of Tung-tsau, or hollow plant, so called because it is hollow when the pith has been pushed out. Meerschaum is not petrified "sea foam" as the word implies, but is a composition of silica, water and magnesia. Gothic architecture is not the architecture of the Goths, but the ceclesiastical style employed in England and France before the Dutch clocks are not of Dutch, but German (Deutsch) manufacture. This is a very comon mistake. Arabic figures were not invented by the Arabs, but by the Indians. Blied worms are no more blind than moles Bush and Grass Scythes and are; they have very quick and brilliant eyes, though somewhat sma BARON, IDIOT AND SLAVE. These are very common words, and yet we now use them in a far different sense than they were formerly employed. Idiot means simply a private person, one not engaged in any public offices. Hence Jeremy Taylor says, "Humility is a duty in great ones, as well as in idiots" (private persons.) The Greeks have the expressions, priest or an idiot" (layman), "a poet or an idiot" (prose writer.) As idiots were not employed in public offices, the term became synonymous with incompetency to fulfill the duties thereof. (Greek idiotes,) Baron properly means a dolt, from the Latin bare, (a thorough fool.) It was a term ap-plied to a Servian soldier, then to a military chief, and ultimately to a lord. The reverse of this is seen in our word slave (a service menial,) which is the Slavonic word slave (noble, illustrious); but the Slavi being conquered by the Romans, were reduced to the hard condition of "hewers of wood and draw-

But probably the strangest corruption is But probably the strangest corruption is that of the word wolf's-bane. Bane is the Tentonic word for all poisonous herbs. The Greeks, mistaking bailes for beans, translated it knamos, as they did hen-bane (huos-knamos.) Now wolf's-bane is an aconite, with a pale yellow flower, and therefore called white-bane to distinguish it from the blue aconite. The Greek for white is leukos, hence "leukos-knamos;" but lukos is the Greek for wolf, and by a blunder teukos-Greek for wolf, and by a blunder teukosknames (white-bean) got muddled into lukes-knames (welf-bean.) Now science steps in and makes confusion werse confounded. Botanists, seeing the absurdity of calling aconite a bean, restored the original word "bane," but retained the corrupt word lukes (a wolf,) and hence we get the name wolf's-bane for white

CHINA AS A NAME FOR PORCELAIN gives rise to the contradictory expressions, British china, Sevres china, Dresden china, Chelsea china, Dutch china, etc., like wooden nile-stones, iron mile-stones, brass shoehorns, steel pens, etc. Black lead does not contain a single particle of lead, but is composed of carbon and iron.

Prussian-blue does not come from Prussia, but is the precipitate of the salt of protoxide of iron with red prussiate of potass. Salt is not salt at all, and has long been wholly excluded from the class of bodies deted as salts-

Whalebone is no bone at all, nor does it possess any properties of bone. It is a substance attached to the upper jaw of the whale, and serves to strain the water which the creature akes up in large meuthtuls. Speaking of whales reminds me of sperm oil, which properly means "seed oil" (Latin, sperma)-from the notion that it was sperma ceti (the spawn or melt of a whale). The spermaceti whale is the one that gives this "seed oil," which is taken chiefly, but not wholly, from the head.

Longitude and latitude, the great dime and the little or broad dimension of the earth.
According to the ancient notion, the world was bounded on the west by the Atlantic, but extended an indefinite length eastward. It was similarly terminated on the south by the tropic of Cancer, whence it extended north-ward, but this extent being much less than that of east and west, was called the breath or Absalom means a "Father's Peace," a fatal name for David's rebellious son. Did you ever think, when reading that beau-tiful poem, "On the Shores of Tennessee," of the age of Ralph Vervair? If not, just consid-er the lapse of time between "when he fought by Marion's side" and the day "when the flag
